

I am a governor by virtue of my position as the school's headteacher. It is my job to provide as much information as necessary to the governing body concerning the standards of education at the school, the safety and welfare of children, school finances, the curriculum and lots, lots more. I welcome tough questioning from governors, who use their expertise in their professional lives to both challenge and support me and other school leaders.